BAY ST. LOUIS, MISSISSIPPI, THURSDAY, MAY 16, 1963

SINGLE COPY 5¢

Leland Mitchell Day, honoring Mississippi State's star basketball player from Kiln, will be observed Saturday beginning at 10 p.m. with a parade through the streets of Bay St. Louis.

The all-day celebration, sponsored by the Bay Jaycees and the Coast Chapter of the Mississippi Alumni will continue with a parade at 10:30 a.m. and a motorcade will depart for Hancock North Central School and a barbecue at 4:30 p.m. The day's feature attraction, a program honoring Mitchell, will start in the gym at 6 p.m.

Charley Carter, Jr., of the Jaycees is in charge of activities. John Smith is president of the Mississippi Alumni and co-sponsoring MSU Alumni group. Leo Seal, Jr., is finance chairman and Fritz Harris is in charge of the barbecue.

Mitchell, one of the greatest athletes ever to come out of South Mississippi, played football and basketball under Coach W. M. Simmons at Kiln High School before that school consolidated with several others to form Hancock North Central. In his senior high school year, Leland played first-string basketball at Pearl River Junior College. His services are presently in great demand both as a professional football player (He has already signed with the Dallas Cowboys of the NFL) and as a pro basketball player (He was drafted second by the St. Louis Hawks of the NBA).

Several of Mitchell's teammates who aided the Bulldog ace in pacing his team to the SSC championship three years in succession are expected to be among those attending Saturday's ceremonies.

Pearlington school vowed when money

Relocation of the Logtown School in the Pearlington area as soon as funds permit was promised over 100 people who gathered at the school auditorium Tuesday to go into problem. The decision was made by Hancock County School Board Trustees S. P. Powell and County Superintendent of Education Kenneth G. McCarty.

The meeting, called by the Relocation Committee for Logtown School, Dan Egan, chairman, heard a request for about 30 Negroes that a separate school be provided for them in Pearlington area so they could not have to travel all the way to Bay St. Louis where they now attend school.

McCarty pointed out that at present Negro pupils number 210 and it should be only a short time before the number reaches the 240 required by the state for a separate school. Powell suggested that in view of the local situation the State Education Finance Commission might grant special permission for construction of the Negro school.

McCarty, School Board Attorney Walter J. Phillips and Beat 1 Supervisor Harlan Dean addressed the crowd telling of the procedures followed so far, what had to be done and what were the plans. Dean and Phillips disagreed on the probable cost of a new school. Dean saying it could be built for $150,000 while Phillips contended $250,000 was more likely. Phillips also said all the money needed for the construction should be in sight before plans are drawn up and bids of construction sought, while Dean wanted to go ahead now.

Relocation committee members present beside Egan were Pete Walker, Jimmy Dorr and Ora Holden.

Political candidates join field for primary

Still growing! That's the latest report on the field for the Aug. 6 Democratic primary with four more candidates formally announcing this week, another announcing he'll announce next week and several others saying they plan to do so.

Sam Cooper, who recently moved here from Picayune to practice law, joined the list of those seeking the State Senate seat shared by Hancock and Pearl River Counties.

Oren J. Bounds, Bay native who has a newspaper distribution route, made his political debut announcing for coroner and ranger.

Two came out for justice of the peace—Peter Chiniche, building contractor, announcing for Beat 5's No. 1 post and Albert Biehl, retiring railroad employee, for the No. 2 post.

Ed Breland, former county superintendent of education, said he will formally announce next week for chancery clerk.

Dummy line road project pushed

Approval of the Dummy Line Road as a state aid project was virtually assured Monday when Supervisor I. M. Frierson reversed his vote from last Thursday's board meeting, making it 3-2 in favor of extending the project one and a half miles to connect with Rt. 603.

B. L. Broome of Jackson, district engineer, told the board at a special session last Thursday that Frank T. Moore, state aid engineer, would not go along with the project as originally planned. It would have run through Beat 4 from the Kiln-Picayune Highway to the Beat 3 boundary line, stopping a mile and a half short of paved 603. Broome also explained that since the job had been set up to use only state aid funds it had to be started by June 30 if it is to begin this year as supervisory terms expire Dec. 31.

The other state aid project nearing readiness—the Dedeaux-Rocky Hill Road in Beat 3—is scheduled to use a portion of federal funds and is therefore not restricted by the six-month limit of election years.

At Thursday's session, Frierson joined H. G. Dean of Beat 1 and R. G. Hubbard of Beat 5 in voting against a motion to extend the Dummy Line job so it could get state approval. They urged the additional cost was not in keeping with board custom of allocating so much state aid to each beat and that it might dip into funds for the Lower Bay Road in Beat 1 which Dean contends is sorely needed with NASA growth in that area.

Monday Frierson went along with plans from James Neelce of Beat 4 and Charles Lovinghouse of Beat 3 for the extension.

Broome endeavored to persuade Dean he would try to get the Lower Bay project included in the federal secondary system. Since surveying for the project had only just been authorized, Broome contended it could not possibly be ready until other funds had built up to undertake it, even if the Beat 4 job were approved now.

Broome discussed in detail the state aid projects undertaken in this county since the program began in 1950, method of applying for aid and the like. Assistant County Engineer Arthur Rogers observed shortage of funds for helpers was the big delaying factor in completing surveys. He started work on the $120,000 Rocky Hill job in the summer of 1960 and got to the Beat 4 job, estimated at $98,000, last fall.

WHEAT TO PREACH

Frank Wheat who will study for the ministry at Millsaps College will preach at the 11 a.m. service Sunday at Main Street Methodist Church.

Waveland volunteer firemen and helpers repaired damage to the town's pier Sunday to put it in shape for the summer season. Wives and children enjoyed a Mother's Day picnic while the men worked.

Equipment main topic at hospital board meet

New equipment was the order of the day at a brief meeting of Hancock General Hospital trustees Tuesday with the acceptance of gift of an x-ray machine and other equipment and the purchase of two items.

Seek 22 acre site

MTO shifts to 2nd gear, bids called

Business is picking up at NASA's Mississippi Test Operations with bids called for in the next few weeks on some $3 million worth of construction.

Ready for the activity is the new 10.5 mile track to Gainesville built by Southern Railway from Nicholson. The first train ran over the line Saturday. Work started March 19 and the last spike was driven Friday, 52 days after work started and 22 days ahead of schedule.

Harders Construction Co., Inc., of Panama City, Fla., got a $334,924 contract during the week to build a dock and access road on which it will start work June 1. It is to be finished in November.

Meanwhile workers Wednesday began clearing land in preparation for the barge harbor and access channel for which T. L. James of Ruston, La., got the $668,340 contract. Guy Stockstill of Picayune is doing the clearing work and has a team of 12 men on the job.

Corps of Engineers at Mobile is handling bids on four test facility projects announced this week, bidding to be restricted to small business concerns.

One support area project calls for one general purpose warehouse, a site maintenance building, a well pump house, a 300,000 gallon elevated water storage tank, a fenced sewerage lagoon and other utilities. Maintenance shops will be located in a proposed 8,400 square feet maintenance building. Bid opening date is June 11.

Bids for excavation for a lock at the East Pearl River entrance to the MTO canal system will be opened June 6.

A one-story concrete and steel emergency service building will be erected in the future support area complex with a floor area of about 15,000 square feet. Bid opening date is June 5.

Fourth project is for clearing 800 acres at the construction site for the test complex where Saturn V stages will be fired. Those bids are due May 28.

Equipment main topic at hospital board meet

New equipment was the order of the day at a brief meeting of Hancock General Hospital trustees Tuesday with the acceptance of gift of an x-ray machine and other equipment and the purchase of two items.

Dr. M. R. Wingo, Calipport radiologist is the donor of the x-ray equipment, costing several thousand dollars, and the Trustees of the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District Monday night authorized board president Robert Hamilton to take the needed steps to acquire for $33,500 22 acres on Blue Meadow Road owned by heirs of Olgafore Blanchard. If successful in acquiring the land the board expects to construct a new high school there as was recommended by a professional study of the school system made earlier by Associated Consultants in Education.

Lone bid of $14,536 by C. C. McDonald, Jr., to build a concession stand and toilet facilities at the new stadium was rejected. The board accepted new modified plans for the proposed building submitted by Wagner and Oubre, architects, and directed advertisement for bids based on these plans.

The board also voted to hold its regular meetings at 8 p.m. April through September and 7:30 p.m. October through March. Payment of transportation and district maintenance claim dockets were approved.

Eye funds for study of ports

Where to start and where to get the money for that were the puzzlers for Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission at its meeting late Thursday night.

Phillip A. Koonce, representing Michael Baker, Jr., Inc., consulting engineers of Jackson and Rochester, Pa., told the board that a thorough and detailed industrial survey of the county's waterways was needed before anything else could be done. He suggested that this be followed by a master, or long range, development plan for the waterways.

Koonce said he was unable to quote a firm price for doing the survey and preparing the long range development plan, but he thought it might be about $30,000, and that he could have a proposal in two weeks. To receive and study such proposal and to consult with a representative of the Agricultural and Industrial Board the commission set May 23 for their next meeting.

Commission members Arlie Strain and Dr. A. K. Martinovich, Jr., asked Koonce about financing any survey, boiling it down to "do you work on credit?" With this as a starting point the commission, presently penniless, discussed sources of revenue. It was pointed out that the state would return to the commission half of its four mill levy on county property but only after the county body qualified, but it was not made clear what constituted qualification and funds from this source can not be applied for before July 1, 1964.

The other source of operating funds is the county board of supervisors and to Strain's question

Harry hears ... Busy summer sports season

As the pages of this week's Echo point out, graduation time is upon us, and with the end of school the usual busy summer sports calendar begins. A full program of athletic events is on tap for the coming three months not only for young people but also for adults.

The Bay Softball League season opening is only ten days away. Most of the eight loop teams took part in the all-day tournament at Kila last Sunday and local fans will get a chance to preview the league teams this Sunday in the annual pre-season tourney at City Ball Park.

One new team has joined the league, the Bay Catholic Youth Council. The CYC club has looked pretty good in practice thus far and, composed mostly of younger players, could be a team to watch in 1963.

Reinike's and Industrial Enameling, two top teams last year, should both field strong squads again as both have heavy hitters and are even improved. Trapp's Knock-Knock also could challenge for the league championship although they don't look like the Trojans of old.

We're betting on Realty

Southern Realty looks to this corner like the team to beat, however, Southern had trouble getting the hits when they counted last season, but with terrific power and speed and two good pitchers they'll be in the thick of things. Spozzy fielding might hurt Southern Realty—team members are known to come up with some great plays but have missed some easy chances in the past.

At any rate, this week's tournament should give an indication of what to expect during the coming months.

Action with the younger set

Little and Pony Leagues will also have a busy schedule beginning the first week in June. The Bay Parks and Playgrounds Commission sponsors the activities and Mrs. Theo Tudy, chairman, announces a schedule for the school children which will include games Monday through Friday at 4:30 p.m.

St. Stanislaus head baseball mentor A. J. (Buddy) Pinski is, once again, in lead coach for the Little and Pony Leagues. Managers for the various teams are desperately needed, though, and anyone willing to devote part of their summer time to helping a lot of kids and have plenty of fun at the same time should call Mrs. Tudy.

Plans are incomplete for Women's Softball League summer play. Lack of interest has prevailed so much in the last few weeks that the league couldn't even get enough enthusiasm stirred up to select officers, much less set up a schedule. The league will probably begin play early in June, however, as four sponsors have been signed.

Only casualty from last season appears to be the Girls Softball League. Mrs. Tudy remarked recently that though great progress has been made that local forces "just aren't quite ready for girls' play". There was a notable lack of interest last year once the league was started, mainly because of the hard times faced in getting dates to play, but maybe in the future the girls will be able to have their share of the fun.

County salutes Leland

One of Hancock County's great all-time athletes will be honored Saturday when county forces join together to celebrate Leland Mitchell Day. Official activities get underway at 1:30 p.m. with a parade through the streets of Bay St. Louis.

Mitchell amassed a career total of 1219 varsity points in leading the Mississippi State Bulldogs to three consecutive Southeastern Conference basketball championships after starring at Kila in basketball and football. Mitchell's point total at State is topped only by All-Americans Bailey Howell and Jim Ashmore.

Leland, whose kid brother Melvin, played for Hancock North Central's cagers this season, has twice been named All-SEC after being on the All-SEC Sophomore team the previous year. He averaged 17.1 points per game in 1962-63 as State represented their conference in the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. tournament. He was named to the NCAA Mid-East Regional team although the Bulldogs were ousted from championship competition in the first game by eventual national champion Loyola of Chicago.

Leland, at 6'4", was one of the SEC's top rebounders during the past three seasons. He also was one of the top floor-men and did good work on defense.

He'll probably continue his basketball career in the National Basketball Assn. with the St. Louis Hawks who selected him in the second round NBA draft. Mitchell, however, has already signed a professional football contract with the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League. He hasn't played since high-school days at Kila but his speed and quick hands make him a good prospect as a defensive halfback.

Anyway, Mitchell is well-deserving of a day and the local citizens making the celebrations possible should be heartily congratulated. We know Saturday, May 18, will be a day all Hancock County will remember for quite some time.

August Ramest and son, Jerome Carver and Doc Elliott made fishing news over the weekend when they caught the limit of green trout and perch. Reuel Toldard was another beating the limit.

A final item concerning Leland Mitchell Day: One local Mississippi State grad, who'll remain anonymous, rushed through lunch last Saturday, hurried downtown to await the arrival of the parade honoring Mitchell, and out in his car nearly on his way out understanding the delay in the proceedings. Finally after quite some time the gentlemen, one of our city's leading businessmen, diagnosed drove home whereupon he picked up his Echo and discovered to his dismay that he was exactly seven days early!

Enamel beats CYO

Industrial Enameling, boasting most of the same players on the powerful V and M Crewery of Pass Christian team, defending state titleholders, wrapped up the championship of the first softball tournament of the season at Kila Sunday afternoon with a 12-3 victory over Bay St. Louis Catholic Youth Organization.

Seven members of the Bay Softball League took part, only Reinike's Dirty Dobbies failing to enter a team. The Industrial battalions rang out with a barrage of hits in the championship game and rode the steady pitching of Red Davis to an easy triumph. Industrial breezed past Reinike's Sign and Gulf Coast Enameling en route to the finals, while the surprising CYO upset Trapp's in first-round action before defeating Pinyone Drug in the consolation round.

Reinike's and Pinyone Drug, Bay St. Louis' top teams last year, and Gulf Coast Enameling in other first-

Co., Gulfport, for $232.90, both firms being low bidders on these items.

The board also accepted the bid of American Tank Co., Nevada, Mo., to paint the water tower inside and out and to make repairs as needed. Cost of the painting will be $795, beam welding will be done for $250 per lineal foot and fill-welding pipe will cost 50¢ each.

The board gave the go-ahead sign to Administrator Thomas O. Logue's plans to conduct a nurses aide course at the hospital starting June 20. The county school board has already committed itself to pay half the cost and Logue expects the state to pay the other half as it did before. Cost to the hospital will be $15 a week to each student for work done at the hospital and Mrs. Nolan Leamer, R. N., will be instructor.

Three of last year's class are now studying to be licensed practical nurses, and Logue said he thought the nurses aide course could be of benefit to many in the county.

Logue was authorized to obtain hire Miss Ulrike Windham as an assistant dietitian. She is completing her second year at University of Southern Mississippi where she is studying to be a dietitian.

N. Central

tion, Supervisors I. M. Frieron and Harlan Doss, who were present for the meeting, indicated they would vote for designating the revenue from one mill to the commission in next year's budget.

Ask Courthouse Open Saturday

Decision of whether to return to opening Saturday at the Courthouse is the first step in final assembly and flight configuration, and this booster, the first built at Midland, is scheduled for delivery in November. Two other "birds", SA-10 and SA-11, are in earlier construction stages. (Staff photo)

Request to go back to that practice was presented at this week's meeting by Earl Ransom of the Bay St. Louis Development and Expansion Area. He said Orleans coming over found it difficult to do business on weekends with the Courthouse offices open and the same prevailed for local people who are busy at work five days a week.

Supervisors R. G. McCard and Charles Lovingshouse said they had heard the same view and it was agreed to discuss the matter with the employees and the board attorney. Until new legislation last year the Courthouse was open half a day Wednesday and Saturday.

The board asked to retain Walter J. Phillips as legal representative in negotiating with the federal government on 16th Section school lands being taken over for Mississippi Test Operations, his fee to be in line with bar association policy. Phillips, who has handled preliminary talks with Uncle Sam as the school board's lawyer, noted earlier in the fee area has been less than $60 an acre while on one 320 acre tract in the buffer zone the government has offered nothing, making the position the county could be better off than it is now.

Low bid of Hoagland Ford for $3,471.46 for a truck for Beat 1 was approved. Others bidding were W. A. McDonald, $3,505, and Gulf Chevrolet, $3,474.17. Lane bid at $1,070 from Hall Equipment of Jackson for a new broom for Beat 5 also was approved. On recommendation of Sheriff G. V. Price, one-fourth time off his jail sentence was given Norville Tillman.

BLUE JEANS HAT SHOW

Four others of the 65 candidates for graduation are completing their high school studies with averages of 90 or better, according to Superintendent J. D. McCollough. They are Ted Leaman, 92.6; J. P. Compton, 91.8; Karen Williams, 90.31, and Gail Stewart, 90.30.

Rev. Ray E. Price, pastor of Main Street Methodist Church, will give the invocation and Msgr. James J. Hanna of Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church, will give the benediction.

Superintendent McCollough will present the diplomas, along with a number of awards. The American Legion awards presentation will be by John D. Rutherford, Jr.

Vesper services will be at 6 p.m. Sunday in the high school auditorium with Edward Khayat of Pascagoula as guest speaker.

Khayat, widely known throughout the South, received his BA from Millsaps College and his MA from the University of Mississippi. He has served 18 years as vice president of Pascagoula-Millsaps Point Bank, and was a member of the Jackson County board of supervisors since 1948, and was a member of the White House Conference on Education.

Invocation for the vesper will be given by Rev. Charles R. Johnson, rector of Christ Episcopal Church, while Rev. Damin Harlow of Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church will give the benediction.

The school chorus will sing and music will be provided by the band for both vesper and commencement exercises.

In event of rain, the commencement will be moved from the stadium to Bay High gymnasium. McCollough said, however, he is not so much worried about rain hindering the event as the mosquitoes and has asked the city administration to fog the area.

He advised those attending to enter the stadium from Dunbar Avenue via Hillcrest subdivision or Bepland Avenue.

part of Coleman Avenue, Jeff Davis Street, and Railroad Avenue from St. Joseph almost to Conrad Street.

The new bonds will mature in varying amounts annually from 1964 to 1990 but starting in 1973 may be called with a penalty of $5 per bond.

Advertisement for making the improvements to the water system was authorized after final plans and specifications submitted by Bernard and Burke, Baton Rouge engineers, were approved. A total cost of about $170,000 including the new 500 gal. per minute well, is anticipated. R. J. Thomas, who represented the engineering firm at the meeting, told the aldermen that it now has a Gulfport office under the name Bernard and Burke of Mississippi, and that in addition of a full time project engineer supervising construction of the system addition T. J. Van Fossen of the Gulfport office would be available when needed.

Another hitch in completion of paving of St. Joseph Street developed at the meeting when it was learned that no copy of the plans and blueprints for the work, prepared by Enoch Kennedy while town engineer, could be located. Clerk C. O. Dufour was directed to try to get a copy from Kennedy.

In connection with this project Roland Weston notified the mayor and board of aldermen that he would not accept appointment as town engineer due to professional ethics. Weston had been offered the position when Kennedy was discharged.

Hancock North Central Band presented its annual concert Tuesday night. The band has been busy practicing for the concert and getting ready for Leland Mitchell day. The band will perform for the parade Saturday.

Seniors took their final test last Monday and Tuesday and have been off all week with senior privileges (lucky things). Graduation is next Thursday night.

Baseball games, barbecues and political speakers were the main happenings at Kiln Youth Center last weekend. The proceeds will be used towards Kiln Ammunition Catholic School to be opened this September. The teachers have been contracted and a nun will be principal, said Rev. Mallory Dugan last Sunday.

He asked those who wish to send their children to the school to please make an application early so books can be purchased for the exact number attending. Tuition will be $3 per month.

A dance Sunday night closed the weekend's activities at the youth center. Music was furnished by the Drifting Mississippians. The event was enjoyed by all.

Gene Favre from North Carolina was in Kiln last weekend visiting his many friends.

The FFA accompanied by sponsor D. J. Martin attended a field day at Rocky Hill Fire Tower last Thursday. The boys heard talks on the importance of our pine forest and how to improve and preserve them. Many county officials and foresters were there. Those we glimpsed included Kenneth McCarty, James Neale, Leo Seal, Fritz Harris, Jack Lott and H. Seal. Highlight of the day was the climbing of the huge tower by all the boys.

Last Sunday was Mother's Day and the day set aside by Catholics to honor their Blessed Mother. Sunday about 7:30 p.m. the people at the Kiln Youth Center dance stopped dancing long enough to have a procession around the church yard with lighted candles and saying the Rosary. At the end of the procession the shrine to our Blessed Mother in church yard was crowned with roses. It was a beautiful sight to behold.

A CYO meeting Monday at 7:30 p.m. is on the calendar for every week. The group is collecting newspapers to raise enough money to go to the state convention in Jackson June 3-5. Thanks to those who donated cakes and sandwiches for our CYO dance last week.

Jeanie and Richard Hill visited Mr. and Mrs. Curet last Sunday. Richard, Jr. was along.

PETER P. CHINICHE

CANDIDATE FOR JP
BEAT 5 - Post 1

TO ALL CITIZENS OF HANCOCK COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI:

Please accept this as my formal announcement as a candidate for the office of Justice of the Peace, Post 1, Beat 5, Hancock County, State of Mississippi.

It was only after careful deliberation and thought that a decision to offer myself as a candidate for this office was reached.

I feel that I am fully qualified to conduct the official duties connected with the administration of any and all transactions concerning this position. This office is a very important one, and I full well recognize the responsibilities it carries.

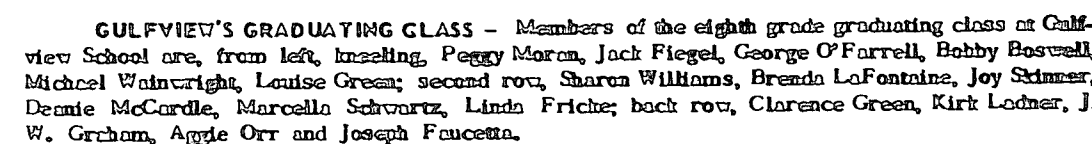

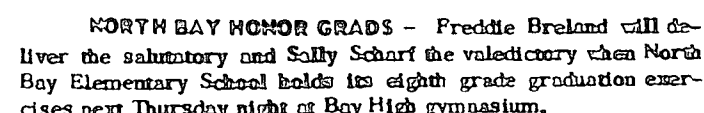

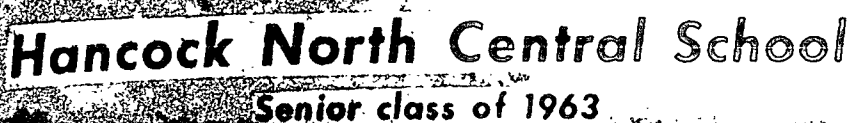

I think that all who seek public office should make and keep a pledge as to their conduct, while in office, if elected. This in mind, I hereby pledge, that if elected to this office, "I will, on my oath as a Christian, to the best of my ability, render equal, fair, just and impartial treatment to all in discharging the duties of this office, with the help of God".

I will attempt to see and contact each and every family personally before election. I feel that most of the voters of Beat 5 are well acquainted with me; however, if any are not, I offer the following: I was born here and have lived in this beat for my full 56 years. I am married and blessed with a wife and 4 children. For many years I have been in the construction business as a contractor. At the present time I am active in the construction business as a private contractor.

I am confident that you will find me to be a person of integrity and ability. Please consider my candidacy seriously. I will sincerely appreciate your active support and your endorsement. I will give to the office of Justice of the Peace, Post 1, Beat 5, Hancock County, Mississippi, my best efforts.

Worth a try

Most of the discussions, the comments and the criticism of the happenings at Oxford, Miss., last September 30 have commingled two separate and basically unrelated facts. One was the refusal of Mississippi authorities to enroll a negro student at the University of Mississippi pending final adjudication of pending law suits, a course of action whose legality is at best questionable. The other fact was the rioting, murder, and brutalities resulting from the use of armed force to enroll a negro.

Generally these separate facts have been confused by apologists for the use of federal armed force just as a little kid yells "you did too". It's the only excuse they've been able to think up in their attempts to avoid the blame for the killings, rioting and brutalities that issued from the deliberate disregard of human life by agents of the federal government. Even President John F. Kennedy publicly stated that the U. S. marshals "were inexperienced and blundered in their use of tear gas".

It is with this latter part of the Oxford picture that we are concerned here and with the legal consequences which may be a part of it.

In the case of In re Yamashita, 327 U. S. 1, decided in 1946, the U. S. Supreme Court held that the commander of troops who committed atrocities was himself guilty of violating the law of war by failing to control the members of his command. As a result of this supreme court decision, the law of the case and to that extent the law of this country, General Yamashita, commander of the Japanese 14th Army Corps in the Philippines, was executed.

Another fundamental law both of Mississippi and of the United States, as well as of most if not all the other states, is that all parties to a felony are responsible equally for anything that occurs during the course of the felony, not only if it was unplanned but even if the accused actively tried to stop it happening.

Another fundamental of our criminal law is that the killing of a human is murder unless legally justified. It matters not if the killing was unintentional. In fact, the killing may result from doing something just one of the foreseeable possible results of which is the loss of a human life.

Putting these facts together it follows "as day the night" that President Kennedy and all those in the chain of command between his excellency and the marshals at Oxford, as well as all the marshals on the scene, are guilty of murder under the law of the land unless the marshals firing the tear gas into a crowd on September 30th are legally justified in using a lethal weapon against people doing what they had every legal right to do. So far no protagonist for the president, for his brother Bobby, or for the correctness of the president's action in ordering the forcible seizure of property owned by others has had gall enough to suggest that.

Our query: in view of the prima facie case of murder even the administration's view suggests, why has no indictment for murder been sought by Mississippi authorities or federal district attorneys for leaving the state to avoid prosecution in cases where the actors have left Mississippi.

The public, and particularly Mississippians, is entitled to know where this road leads.

FROM THE RICHMOND NEWS LEADER

Mississippi And The Marshals

Last week an investigating committee of the Mississippi Legislature filed a report on the Oxford riot of September 30. We have not seen an Associated Press story that gave two paragraphs to Mississippi's charges and three paragraphs to Bobby Kennedy's denial of them.

In brief, it appears that the report charges the Federal marshals with brutality that amounted in some instances to "physical torture." The marshals are accused of clubbing, manhandling, denial of medicines to prisoners and suppression of civil rights.

To these charges, Mr. Kennedy replied at length. Mississippi had filed "a grievous slander against courageous men." The Justice Department found it "shocking that facts should be distorted or ignored and incidents manufactured." A formal statement regretted that the Mississippi legislators had not interviewed "objective" witnesses. Mr. Kennedy said the report "appeared to be incomplete and incomplete," and said the committee was "questioned newspapermen who witnessed the incidents and some of the marshals who were there."

Well, we were there. We were there at 7 o'clock on the morning of Monday, October 1, while the tear gas was still in the air. We were in the University of Mississippi building, or at least we were in the town square of Oxford, Miss., where the riot was taking place.

We were there in the town square of Oxford, Miss., where the riot was taking place. We were there in the town square of Oxford, Miss., where the riot was taking place. We were there in the town square of Oxford, Miss., where the riot was taking place.

By Roger Babson's staff— How's business?

In recent years the general public has become acutely aware of the concept of growth, perhaps more so than in any previous period. Lush and easy profits in the stock market and in real estate since the end of World War II made growth a prime objective for investors. Economic growth, also has gained prominence in public thinking, due to the appeal of national political platforms, such as President Kennedy's New Frontier program.

Unfortunately, however, the tendency is to take the idea of growth at face value, forgetting the pitfalls. Just as parents can notice signs of growth in a child, so too the growth of our economy, or of some particular industry, or company, or geographical region, occurs in waves. In between, there are periods of dormancy and "growing pains".

One must be careful to discern the difference in economic growth between total dollar value and physical volume. Measuring growth on purely dollar value can be illusory because of the inflation factor. Therefore, enthusiasm over the commendable increase in our gross national product may be overlooking the impact of the inflation in prices and costs. After deflating the dollar figures, we find that the advances in physical volume of goods and services produced lags the rate required to sustain prosperity. As a further refinement, the growth rate must be equated with the rate of population increase. Unfortunately, our nation's apparent growth progress shows a sub-par performance on a per capita basis also.

Last readers became unduly alarmed, however, we again remind that growth occurs in stages. We are now in a consolidation phase. Rather than becoming discouraged, we should be patient while the excesses are being corrected; for, at the same time, this process should be laying the foundation for the next major upward spurt. 10 YEARS AGO

2 tons of steel Our Readers Write

Editor, Sea Coast Echo:
The annual staff of the Bay St. Louis Elementary School wishes to express a deep appreciation to The Sea Coast Echo and Mr. Ed Payard for the many pictures you contributed to our 1963 "Little Tiger" annual. With your contributions, we feel that our first annual has been a success.

Sincerely,
MRS. LUCILE MCCULLOUGH,
Annual Advisor.

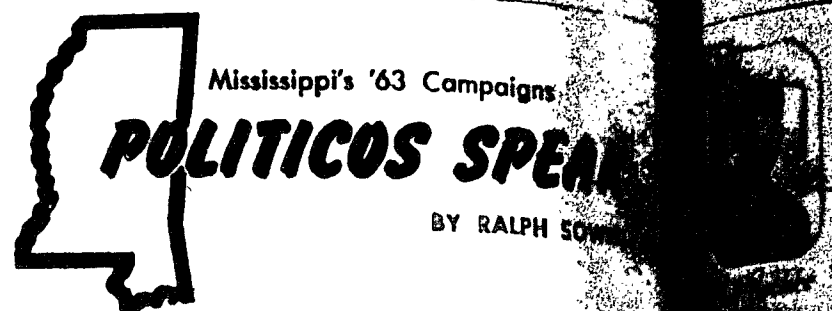

Editor, Sea Coast Echo:
Originally, about as far back as any of us can remember, Uman Avenue was part of U. S. 90, therefore it was necessary to have a guarded cross-walk to insure the safety of students coming to and going from Bay High. In relatively recent years, the highway has been moved away, decreasing the hazard to our young but S. J. Ingram was built, again adding to it, hence the cross walk on Uman Avenue is still a good idea but the aspect that has been overlooked, up until now, is that the Carroll Avenue and Second Street sections bounding Bay High are just as dangerous as Uman Avenue and definitely more so because they are unguarded.

One of the greatest dangers comes not from every day normal adult drivers but from the older students themselves who are given or have worked for automobiles and abuse the privilege. A teen-age mind cannot realize or will not accept what almost two tons of iron and steel can do to 100 pounds or less of human being.

Since very few students live in the area bounded by Uman, Second and Carroll, a very high percentage of the walking students must either cross Second or Carroll to ever use the guarded cross walk and these thoroughfares are unguarded at all times.

Since it is not feasible to make away all driving privileges from all students there must be another solution but the problem is increasing each year.

Whether the solution be school patrols at all three approaches to Bay High or local police or a strictly enforced 15 mph zone within a one or two block area,

With a June 7 entry deadline fastly approaching, Mississippi's political pot is ready to boil.

J. P. Coleman officially entered the race last week in the Democratic ticket and a candidate, Ed Bishop of Columbia, known to even be called a dark horse, offered his name for governor on the Independent ticket in the November general election.

In the same week Democratic gubernatorial hopeful Charles L. Sullivan held a stirring Clarksdale rally and Joe Patterson, seeking re-election as attorney general staged a kick-off campaign in Calhoun City.

As if the hot summer weather does not provide enough political commons have already fired with torch inspired banners.

Writer attended three rallies in the last week, and you can see the last "Vardaman button" that from here on out, the race will be the conversation piece in "politics."

Coleman announces

Coleman, who has delayed his announcement for some weeks, has finally exercised a flood of free publicity, now thinks he can win. The 49-year old attorney was governor from 1955-60, and served as district attorney, circuit judge, state supreme court justice and state attorney general, never having lost an election. He will again meet Paul Johnson, whom he defeated in the second primary in 1955 by a 233,237 to 185,924 vote.

The biggest consideration in Coleman's announcement was his connection with J. P. Kennedy, whom he supported in 1960. He did most of the other state officials. In his announcement Coleman said, "I supported John F. Kennedy in the 1960 presidential election. Only after Mississippi's elected leaders in Washington (referring to Senators John Stennis and James Eastland) pointed a course to us to follow. As an elected official of Mississippi, I followed the advice."

Coleman said that President Kennedy should not be an issue in the gubernatorial race, since "he cannot carry Mississippi in 1963 no matter who is elected governor."

Sullivan blasts all

In Clarksdale, Sullivan, before a tv audience (which, by the way, will draw the biggest crowds in this election) and a 2000-strong throng of boosters singing "Sullivan" and "Get out the Vote for Sullivan" (his two campaign songs) served warning that he will turn the sports for hot-tongued verbiage in this election.

His barbs were aimed at Ross Barnett (for offering too many people the same job), Paul Johnson (for political damage), J. P. Coleman (for receiving clearance from Washington before he could announce) and Rubel Phillips ("The oath the Republicans require" said Sullivan, "is that they require that their man, elected by a miracle, would not quit after two years and turn the office over to his younger brother.") Sullivan was referring to Rubel's brother, Hal, who will manage his campaign.

Patterson kicks off

Opening his campaign in his home town of Calhoun City, Joe Patterson elaborated his record as attorney general and detailed himself of criticism lashed out at him by his lone opponent for the office, Senator John McLaurin. The main theme of Patterson's address answered McLaurin's repeated charges that Patterson had not fulfilled the obligations of the office in his dealings with the Oxford incident.

Patterson said, "any candidate who would seek to make political capital out of the tragic events that have occurred in our state... with a wanton and reckless disregard for the welfare of the people... is wholly unworthy of the smallest and most unimportant office in the state."

"POLITICO PETE" SEZ: "You gotta' take a stand on many issues, but how many political factions can you alienate and still win?"

HNC 8th grade...

Penton will present the awards and certificates of graduation. Rev. William Price, pastor of Crane Creek Baptist Church, will close the program with the benediction.

Music for the procession will be furnished by Ann Lee.

Were You There, Bobby?

The Attorney General of the United States didn't like that report on last September's Oxford riot filed by an investigating committee of the Mississippi Legislature one bit.

Concerning the committee's charges that U. S. marshals acted brutally, Robert F. Kennedy said Mississippi had filed "a grievous slander against courageous men" and the Justice Department found it "shocking that facts should be distorted or ignored and incidents manufactured."

Among other things, he said the committee should have talked to newspapermen "who witnessed the incidents and some of the marshals who were there."

Mr. Kennedy may or may not be interested to learn that newsmen on the scene drew a different set to their own local courthouses.

On October 1 and 2, we talked to a score of newspaper, radio-TV and magazine correspondents who had been physically present on the campus on Sunday night, September 30, when the riot occurred. Overwhelmingly, they agreed that experienced police officers could have prevented the riot by keeping their backs. They did not condemn the students, but they put primary blame on the trigger-happy McShane and his undisciplined deputy marshals.

This was an ugly riot. We don't propose to pretty it up. But in our own view, "brutality" is a fair word for the marshals' conduct. If the shoe fits, Bobby, put it on.

of conclusions from their first-hand observations than the Attorney General did upon digesting battle-front reports in his Washington office.

We invite the attention of our readers to an editorial in the Richmond News Leader reprinted below. It is initiated J.J.K. These initials belong to James Jackson Kilpatrick, veteran editor of the News Leader and a newspaperman who went to Mississippi to get the facts first-hand and report a story of national significance.

Jack Kilpatrick's editorial provides an eloquent reply to Bobby Kennedy's counter-accusations. We hope every reader interested in getting a more accurate perspective on last fall's ugly riot will read the account of a distinguished editor-reporter "on the scene."

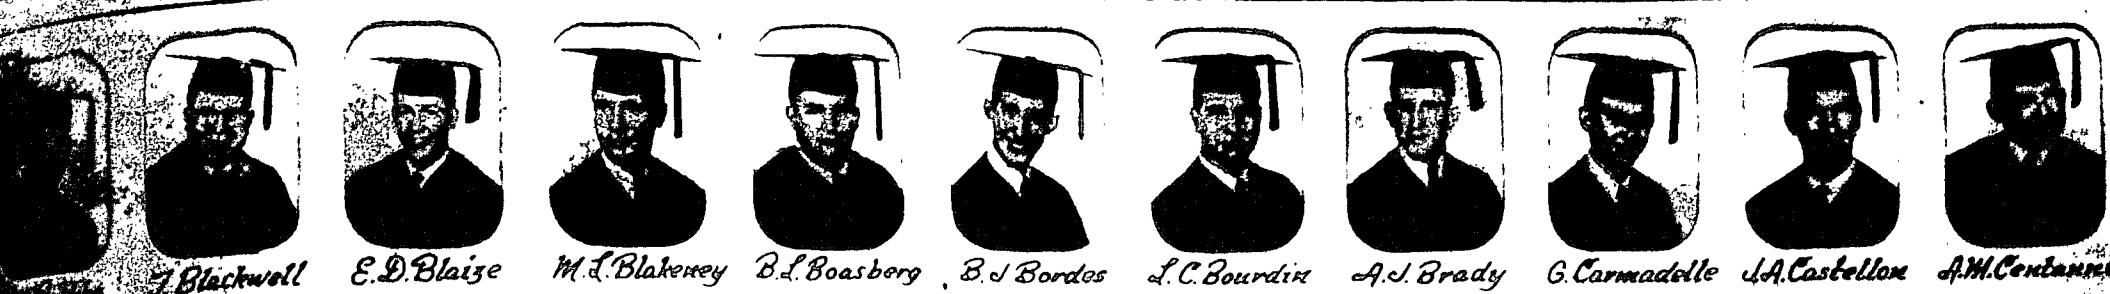

Were you there, Bobby?
